Westbury® VertiCable Aluminum Railing Enhances the Outdoor Living Experience While Offering Superior Ease of Installation

Bremen, IN, February 10, 2020. DSI, Inc., the leading supplier of aluminum railing in North America, is experiencing rapid sales growth of the company's VertiCable railing system. Westbury VertiCable railing makes any deck or porch beautiful and it comes with a lifetime limited warranty. Featuring thin vertical stainless steel cables rather than larger bulky infills, VertiCable railing is stylishly designed to provide clear views from any deck or porch making it ideal for residential and multi-family installations.

Westbury VertiCable railing comes in pre-assembled sections for fast installation. The stainless steel vertical cables come pre-tensioned to minimize the need for adjustments during the process of completing the railing section. Available in multiple standard colors and textures, VertiCable railing is powder coated with DSI's unequalled ten step powder coating process to provide low maintenance and long-term durability. The components are lightweight and engineered for easy installation. VertiCable railing can be installed in up to 60% less time than horizontal cable railing systems.

Westbury VertiCable railing offers major installation advantages over competitive horizontal cable railing systems. Bob Shaver, contractor and owner of Baldwin County Fence in South Alabama, noted that "Westbury VertiCable aluminum railing provides unobstructed views that homeowners prefer while offering installation advantages. Westbury sections are pre-assembled making it much easier and faster to install than horizontal cable railing. The combination of a beautiful product and one that offers ease of installation makes it a homeowner's and contractor's best choice."

Larry G. Boyts, DSI's Vice President of Sales and Marketing stated that "Westbury VertiCable railing leads the way as a premier railing system offering aesthetic and performance advantages unmatched by competitors' products."
